Boston is a town and seaport on the banks of the River Witham 30 miles from the county town of Lincoln and 14 miles from Boston Deeps. Among its most remarkable features is the lofty and noble tower (282 feet high) which belongs to the parish church of St. Botolph (whence the town derives its name). This tower, familiarly known as "Boston Stump", is visible for a considerable distance both on land and sea, and is consequently a well-known landmark.
